Work on new bridge to begin on April 1

A two-lane concrete bridge spanning the channel between Kashagawigamog Lake and Canning Lake in Ingoldsby will be open to traffic by July 1.

The date for the completion of the construction project was set at a meeting of the County Roads Committee on Wednesday and announced at the regular meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council on Thursday, February 14, by county engineer, Bill Obee.

The county engineer told council that the project will begin at the beginning of April with the demolition of the existing single lane steel structure.

Since there is not enough room to erect a temporary Bailey Bridge beside the existing structure, the road will be closed to traffic during the three month project. Traffic between Ingoldsby and Minden will be rerouted via the South Lake Road.

Obee noted that although this will cause some inconvenience to motorists, the route covers the same distance as the Highway 121 route. He added that the Haliburton County Board of Education has been notified so that the school bus routes can be changed in time for the start up of construction.

Because of the road closure Obee suggested that residents of the area should be very specific about the location of any fire that they report to the fire department.

Obee predicted that there would be an interruption of boat traffic through the channel for approximately one week while the old bridge is being dismantled and for several days during the construction phase when the box beams are being put in place, adding that throughout most of the project, boats will be able to move safely through the channel. He also emphasized that the deck of the new structure will not be lower than the existing deck.

After the steel superstructure and concrete footings have been removed, reinforced concrete pilings will be formed on the shore of the channel.

The new pilings will support a single span concrete deck that will accommodate two lanes of traffic and a pedestrian walkway.

Aside from the elimination of any blind spots, the approaches to the bridge will remain unchanged until a future date when some construction will be carried out on the approach from Highway 121.

Councillor Pat Burk, a resident of Ingoldsby, asked why the project was being carried out in the spring when the water in the channel is at its highest level. She suggested that this would not be the best time of year to be putting the concrete pilings in place. Obee responded by noting that the water level fluctuates by only one foot and that if the project was delayed until the period of low water levels in the fall, the concrete deck would have to be formed in the cold weather late in the year, further complicating the project.

Tenders for the construction of the bridge will be accepted by the county until the closing date on March 13.

County council will award the contract at the council meeting on March 20 on the recommendation of the Roads Committee.

Following an investigation by the Municipal Bylaw Enforcement Officer Dick Schell, Anson, Hindon and Minden Council has decided not to install a stop sign at the southeast end of the Gull River bridge on the Bobcaygeon Road.

Schell carried out the investigation at the request of Council following a recommendation by former councillor Larry Cummins that the traffic entering the downtown core should be stopped at the intersection of the Bobcaygeon Road

Wendy Ballantyne, centre, was named Haliburton Winter Carnival Queen Friday evening. Along with princesses Cindy Wallace and Sue Vuksic. The trio ruled over a busy weekend of carnival activities in the village. For more photographs of the weekend's fun, please turn to page 7.

Program cuts protested

The cutback in funding of the Katimavik program announced recently by the federal Minister of Finance, Michael Wilson, has been criticized by members of Anson, Hindon and Minden council. This community has been home to three Katimavik groups over the past two years. The municipality has acted as the main sponsors for the groups, providing and supervising work in a number of areas mostly related to parks and recreation. The district office of the Ministry of Natural Resources has also been involved with the program by providing jobs for the participants.

The funding cuts were brought to the attention of council by councillors Dave Stevens and Gary Kenney. Kenney said that the cutbacks "would be short-circuiting an obvious need."

"This community has benefitted from the program," he said, adding that the individuals who take part in the program also benefit. "Young people have largely been ignored in the (federal) budget. The program should be reinforced; not cut back," he said.

Councillor Stevens pointed out that the "Concept of the program is to integrate people from all over the country in a learning experience," adding that the participants in the program are served better in a small rural community than in a larger centre.

Councillor Kenney agreed noting that the groups that have worked in the municipality have carried out various projects at Minden arena, in the municipal park and on the cross-country ski trails; projects that he described as being more beneficial than "just sweeping streets". Councillor Pat Burk added her support to the program noting that the participants have not only learned to operate machinery, they have also learned to work together as a group.

Council says no to stop sign and South Water Street.

The recommendation was made because motorists attempting to turn onto the Main Street have their view of the south bound traffic blocked by the railings of the bridge and a number of fingerboard signs mounted on a post beside the intersection.

Schell reported that he had consulted with the municipal Road Superintendent, Earl Kent, Community Services Co-ordinator, Brian Sisson and Constable Barry Connelly, the Community Liaison Officer with the Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police. Schell noted that he had been informed by the Road Superintendent that the fingerboards could be moved to improve visibility.

Constable Connelly recommended that additional sanding could be carried out on South Water Street to ensure that motorists could turn quickly onto Main Street.

The constable did not recommend installing the stop sign because motorists may have difficulty stopping at the end of the bridge because the bridge surface freezes more quickly than the road surface and because of the extra confusion the sign would cause when traffic volume is heavy during the summer.

Schell added that the constable had suggested that there would be an increase in charges laid during the summer since motorists would not be familiar with the new sign and that this would have a negative effect on the image of the village.

Schell reported that he had contacted a company that manufactures industrial convex mirrors used for traffic control. He was advised that a two foot diameter mirror would be sufficient.

Following the report Council decided not to install the stop sign but instructed the Bylaw Enforcement Officer to obtain more information on the types and prices of mirrors that are available and to report his findings at the next Council meeting.

Ernice Warder expresses her appreciation to her many friends gathered Thursday evening to pay tribute to her many years of service to education.

Tribute paid to school teacher of 23 years

Fellow teachers, education officials, friends and family paid tribute to Ernice Warder Thursday evening, honouring her many years of service in education, especially in the area of special education. The tribute was held at the Fireside Restaurant.

Dave McKinlay was the MC for the evening.

Jack Hill, representing the Haliburton County Association for Children with Learning Disabilities pointed out, in addressing the audience, that Mrs. Warder was instrumental in starting the group. "Without you, it never would have happened," he told the guest of honour.

Director of Education for the county and former principal at Archie Stouffer Elementary School, Stuart Baker, supported those comments, noting that Mrs. Warder's interest in children with special needs sparked the board of education to take a look at the services being provided here. "She was talking about learning disabilities and special education long before it became a province-wide concern," he noted. He said that as a result of her efforts, the county led the province in implementing programs for students with special learning needs.

Mr. Baker noted that she brought a special touch to her work, mixing T.L.C. (tender, loving care) with an individual program that challenged the abilities of her students. The former principal said that all members of the staff benefitted from her example as well as the expertise she could bring to assisting the students in their classes.

Mrs. Warder has been a teacher for 23 years, serving for two years in northern Ontario before moving to the Minden area. She has taught in Haliburton County schools since 1962. Her first position was at the one room school house at Boskung. The school included students from grades one to eight. "It was a lot of fun teaching the full range of grades," she commented. "It was a great experience."

Commenting on her work with children with learning disabilities, Mrs. Warder said she really enjoyed the challenge of meeting each student's special need. "You worked so closely with them, it becomes a personal effort. I really miss the children."

In addition to the congratulations from those in attendance Thursday evening, a number of letters were also read. Mrs. Warder was presented with a pendant watch on behalf of those who had gathered to pay tribute to her efforts for education in the county.

A different perspective

The morning session of the Anson, Hindon and Minden Council meeting on Thursday, February 14, was one of those rare times when the public gallery was full. The occasion was the annual visit of the grade four class at Archie Stouffer Elementary School.

Three of the students took notes during the meeting and prepared the following report on the proceedings from their unique perspective.

On Thursday, February 14, the 4A class visited the municipal council meeting. Three reporters from 4A class were asked if they wanted to sit at the council table. Toni Cooper, Jeremy Phillips and Corbie Kent were the three reporters for the 4A class. Here are some things that were discussed there:

First, there was a presentation from Mr. Brezina of the BIA to Mr. and Mrs. Loughheed thanking them for organizing the dog sled derby. Then the clerk read the bylaws which were followed by a report by Dick Schell about putting a stop sign at the end of the bridge. They had to talk it over with Earl Kent but Constable Connelly thought it wasn't a good idea. It was decided to get more information and prices of a mechanical mirror. They said it would be vandal proof. There was a request to set tables on the main street to sell inventory. (Editor's note: Inventory refers to religious pamphlets.)

Brian Sisson reported about parks and roads.

The Chamber of Commerce wanted to lease the office downstairs and they wanted to put a rug downstairs too, but they were afraid that, as in the past, the basement will flood.

(Editor's note: Council discussed renovations to the vacant office that will be leased from the municipality for the LEAD program.)

Many other things were discussed. We are not sure we have all these facts straight because it is very difficult to follow a council meeting.

We enjoyed being reporters and being part of the council table. We missed Mr. McKnight and hope he gets better soon. All the councillors were very friendly and gave us heart candies.

was also critical of the cutback in the Katimavik funding and noted that the municipality has also been adversely affected by the cut backs in the winter works program. "Unions have been lobbying against the program. We should lobby for it," he said.

On his recommendation Council instructed Clerk Treasurer to write a letter to the Minister of Finance outlining Council's concerns.

Exciting dart tournament finish

It was an exciting finish to the trans-Atlantic dart game at the Royal Canadian Legion in Haliburton Sunday. The game is an annual affair played via telephone link with dart enthusiasts at the Red Lion Pub in Deadman's Cross, near Bedford in England playing against a team at the Haliburton Legion.

As each player takes his turn, the scores are announced by loudspeaker in the hall, giving spectators a chance to follow the scoring. Each team consists of seven players. The first in each pairing to complete the 301 scoring is declared the winner with the winning team being determined by best 4 out of 7 results.

The action was tense this year as the Haliburton Legion team was defending last year's win. The team opened strongly with John Briggs of Haliburton taking the first game over John Hornika of England. In the second game Haliburton was victorious once more with Jack Morrison defeating his English counterpart Ray Boivin. The British won the first game of the afternoon in the third round as Vic Hobbs defeated Reg Crachett.

In the fourth game, Britain evened the score when N. Nightingale defeated Fred Knight. The lead went across the Atlantic in the fifth match when Peter Wilson defeated Haliburton's Ron Perrin.

Gordie Vincent of Haliburton set the stage for the exciting finish when he tied the tally in the sixth match defeating his English counterpart Peter Pool.

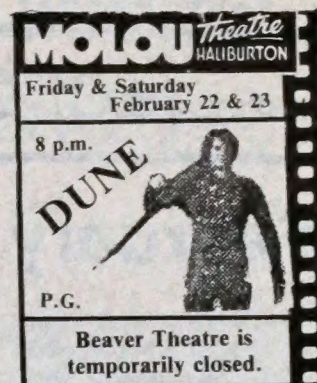

The tension in the hall could be cut with a knife as Bernie Bain of Haliburton and G. Yorin of England battled for the final win and the year's championship. Quickly the two players whittled away at their scores until, to the dismay of the spectators gathered in the hall, a cheer could be heard over the phone line from England. The British player had "doubled out", won his game and the series.

After confirmation of the win, the players extended congratulations to each team and friends and acquaintances made over the three years that the tournament has been played, exchanged greetings. Both sides are now looking forward to next year's match.

Council members disclose income

According to regulations contained in the Ontario Municipal Act, members of the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council filed the 1984 statement of remuneration and expense allowance at the February 14 meeting. The compilation of the figures is required under provincial legislation and covers honoraria and payments in the form of an expense allowance.

The following amounts were contained in the 1984 statement:

Reeve Lyle McKnight: $4330 honorarium and $1000 expense allowance for a total of $5330.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas: $3720 honorarium $750 expense allowance, $300 for planning advisory committee, for a total of $4770.

Councillor Dave Stevens: $3200 honorarium, $550 expense allowance for a total of $3750.

Councillor Pat Burk: $3200 honorarium, $550 expense allowance, $300 for planning advisory committee, for a total of $4050.

Councillor Gary Kenney: $3200 honorarium, $550 expense allowance for a total of $3750.

February musings

We all want honest, forthright politicians. Not total angels, but certainly ones who respect Canadian traditions, values and laws. It is interesting to note that two politicians who have done little more than commit a minor indiscretion have been forced to step down or have resigned. Most Canadians, we believe, do not feel the security of the nation or the ability of the minister to act in service to his country has been impaired by Mr. Robert Coates' visit to a West German night spot with questionable entertainment. Unless there is more to this incident than has been made public, both the Prime Minister and the Minister have over reacted.

Likewise, Ontario Premier Frank Miller appears overly cautious, even harsh, in his decision to switch the portfolio of Al McLean for a minor infraction which occurred years ago. An infraction for which he duly paid the penalty.

Surely we must allow our politicians the right to be human, to have the foibles and flaws which mark them as part of the common stream. To insist on an impeccable past and present is to ask too much and will only discourage those of ability from seeking elected office.

The death of the moose which the Ministry of Natural Resources moved to Hindon Township last week is regrettable. Unfortunately the animal strayed too close to civilization and became caught up in a web which led to her ultimate demise. The ministry personnel are to be congratulated on their valiant, albeit unsuccessful efforts, to set nature back on course. The method they chose offered the animal a second opportunity.

Whither spring the lonely voice doth call from the deepest depths of February. Sol, where is thy warm caress and gentle kiss? Bring forth the laughter of the new season and let the cussed rasp of winter's sting melt away. etc., etc.

I would just like to say that the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association has done an excellent job this year grooming their trails!

A friend and I took a couple of days off work and spent our time on our machines. We covered over 150 miles and were very impressed.

Anyone that hasn't been out this year doesn't know what they are missing.

Thanks for an enjoyable couple of days. Keep up the good work!

In answer to Mr. Geoffrey Robinson's letter of last week, I say hurrah.

It is a pleasure to see someone take a stand for the good old U.S.A. Everyone is so ready to put the blame for everything that happens on its broad shoulders.

Have many Canadians read Peter C. Newman's book, True North, Not Strong and Free? If not they should do so. This man was, among other accomplishments, Editor-In-Chief of the Toronto Star and has done his homework.

When are people going to get their heads out of the sand and realize that the United States is protecting us as much as they are protecting their country. In a crisis, they are the first to jump in and help, but they can't do it alone.

How about cleaning up our own act, and hurrah for Brian Mulroney for supporting them in their endeavors.

Speaking as a Canadian, and having lived in the United States for many years, I never heard a derogatory remark uttered against Canada, I wish I could say the same for the Canadians.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Silently they poise. Every muscle stilled, like some overwound spring. Ready at an instant to explode into action. She beneath a snow-mantled leanto. He amid the catacombs that have been 'home' to countless generations before. Peacefully, they await dusk's kindly gloom, under whose cover they can - finally - venture forth.

Ontario's hares and rabbit - there are 3 related species - are highly efficient in utilizing vegetation. Feeding incessantly on grasses, succulents, leaves and anything green during the summer, they switch to buds, twigs and bark in winter. Because they're so efficient at converting this material into protein, and so prolific, they provide the important food base for most of our larger predators - lynx, cougar, fox, wolves, coyote and great horned owls, to name a few.

Reciprocally, the pressure of these predators decides which species, each with its own adaptations, will be eaten least-often in a given setting.

The snowshoe hare changes colour - dark brown in summer, almost pure-white in winter. A lanky animal of moderate size (1 - 2 kg), it has distinctive, very large feet. All of these characteristics adapt it well to thickets, forests, swamps and mixed agricultural countryside e.g. where it can readily move about its up-to-10 acre range.

The European Hare, distinguished immediately by its huge (3 - 5 kg) size, is brownish grey year-round, with a black-topped tail. Colonizing large, open expanses, it can either outrun or beat-off most predators. It can cover nearly 5 metres in a single bound, and achieve speeds of 60 kph.

The eastern cottontail is instantly distinguished by its cottony white tail, which contrasts sharply with the brown or grey compact-looking body. The diminutive cottontail thrives in 'little' settings, occupying every patch of ground with a few square feet of cover and a grassy or shrubby area in which to browse.

All nocturnal - for best protection from predators - these mammals establish a feeding range around a lair or burrow. Most often, their lair is simply a protected locale beneath a low bush, a draping evergreen branch, or a slash pile.

Come spring, these sites will be used for 'nests': some species building simple grass structures, while others simply 'drop' their young in protected sites or ordinary-looking vegetation. Unlike most mammals, rabbits and hares stay away from their young, most of the time.

Transfer proves too traumatic for moose

by Michael Shirley

She will go down on official records as Blue 12 but to her many friends she was known as 'Lucy'.

Lucy was a five year old, 900 lb. cow moose who lived most of her life in relative obscurity near Sebright, Ontario. She was christened Lucy by Ed Amon, the owner of a 1700 acre farm near that community.

Ed first noticed Lucy and four other moose browsing on his land in the fall of 1984. Four of the moose left the area after several weeks but Lucy, for reasons unknown, remained on the farm and became the denmother to part of the 180 head of cattle that ranged over the open pastureland.

She kept her own little clan separate from the rest of the herd and when any of her brood began wandering away in search of greener pastures she would quickly herd the roving bovine back to her newly adopted family. News of the moose, who thought she was a cow, spread quickly, attracting the attention of area residents.

Local schools arranged visits to the farm for classes of students and reporters and cameramen from regional and national newspapers and television stations made Lucy a media celebrity.

Lucy peacefully coexisted with the cattle throughout all the glare of publicity and although Ed Amon was the only human who could get close to her she seemed unperturbed by the large groups of visitors.

However, Lucy began to wear out her welcome in January.

She prevented her brood from entering the barn at night and although she did not include any hay in her diet she chased other cattle away from the feed and from the water-hole.

When Lucy kicked one of the cows inflicting a nasty gash, Ed Amon decided it was time for Lucy to leave.

He knew that 80 of his cows would be calving soon and he was worried that Lucy would harm any young calf that chanced to come close to her.

Mr. Amon contacted the Ministry of Natural Resources who in turn made enquiries to find out if any zoo, or wild game farm, was interested in acquiring an adult moose. Apparently Lucy was considered too old to adapt to a restricted environment so the Ministry decided to transfer her to Haliburton County.

A number of Ministry employees had taken part in the recent transfer of 30 moose from Algonquin Park to Michigan so their services were called upon and on Tuesday, February 12 a convey of MNR trucks arrived at the Amon farm.

Dennis Bight, the Wildlife Research Director from Maple approached Lucy and fired a tranquilizer dart into her right flank. Within minutes Lucy lay sedated on the ground.

A blue identification tag bearing the number 12 was attached to her ears. A nylon sling was placed under her and she was hoisted by a boom truck into a steel and plywood crate on the back of a flatbed truck.

Lucy was laid on her stomach on a bed of straw, the crate was sealed and the convoy began the long journey to Hindon Township.

The convoy arrived at their destination around 3 o'clock, and after the crate was lowered to the ground and opened Lucy was given an injection to counteract the effect of the tranquilizer.

While Lucy slowly regained consciousness Dennis Bight, Mike Wilton, a Regional Wildlife Biologist from Huntsville and Jack Roberts, an MNR employee from Minden kept a close watch on her.

They kept her from banging her head against the side of the crate when she tried to raise herself and through an hour and a half of wet snow and pouring rain the three men and their fellow workers encouraged her to stand. While Lucy was slowly coming around, Dave Atkinson, Fish and Wildlife supervisor with the Minden District Office of the Ministry of Natural Resources, talked about Lucy's unusual behaviour.

He said that he knew of several cases in the Parry Sound area of moose who had stayed on farms with cattle but could offer no definite explanation for the behaviour.

He noted that moose calves stay with their mother until new calves are born and suggested that because Lucy did not have any calves she may have adopted the cows as her own. He added, "Perhaps they forget that they are wild animals".

He said that what was most unusual about Lucy is that she did not leave with the other moose in the fall but instead chose to remain with the cattle.

Atkinson explained that the Ministry had decided to release Lucy in an area near Poker Lake in Hindon Township that was the site of cutting operations. The logging road provided access for the Ministry trucks and the site was unpopulated.

He added that the terrain was similar to the area near Sebright and would provide a good source of feed.

Around 5 o'clock Lucy, after having made a number of attempts, rose to her feet and walked slowly out of the crate. She was still groggy from the tranquilizer as she walked across the clearing.

After stopping and gazing at her former captors she walked on shaky legs out of the clearing down the logging road and off into the bush. But she had not fully regained her strength and lay down several times before walking a short distance away from the road and the people who were watching her.

When she appeared to be bedding down for the night, she was left alone and the convoy drove away.

The following morning Dave Atkinson visited the site and found Lucy still in the area. From her tracks it was obvious that she had browsed during the night had bedded down several times and appeared to be improving.

However, when Atkinson returned to the site in the afternoon he discovered that Lucy had died during the day.

Jack Roberts of the Ministry of Natural Resources, cradles Lucy's head as she attempts to rise to her feet. The moose was still feeling the effects of the tranquilising drug and took nearly an hour and a half to regain her senses.

Shortly after being released by Ministry officials, the moose carefully scrutinizes her new surroundings. On unsteady legs she made her way into a nearby thicket and bedded down for the night.

The exact cause of her death will not be known until an autopsy is completed at the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph but it may have been a result of the tranquilizing drugs, the stress or a combination of both.

Eric Mitchell, a Wildlife Management Officer in Minden, said that tranquilizer drugs have been used successfully and without harm on nuisance bears in British Columbia and have been used in the past to transfer moose in the province of Ontario.

He noted that several moose died during the recent transfer from Algonquin Park, but this occurred at the beginning of the program, and subsequently over 30 moose were transported to Michigan and released without harm.

The stress that Lucy suffered may also have been a factor in her death, Mitchell explained.

He spoke of instances when deer or moose had died hours after being freed from a pile of mining tailings in northern Ontario or after being chased by dogs, even though the wild animals showed no signs of physical damage.

"Wild game suffer from stress more than domestic animals," he said, adding "each animal is different. Some simply cannot take the stress. What is strange about this case is that she did come through after the antidote was given, but died next day."

Biologists at the Agricultural College in Guelph are studying Lucy to determine the cause of her death. Their findings may prove invaluable to the MNR in future transfer programs.

from the chamber

As part of its presentation to the Ontario Cabinet - to be made in the early months of 1985 - the Ontario Chamber of Commerce has been developing its own economic forecast. Despite generally sluggish economic activity around the world in 1984, Canada's economy had a moderately successful year, notes the Chamber document. The explanation of this lies, of course, with the strong economic recovery of the United States.

The Chamber's forecast, as it stood in early December of 1984, saw indications that the U.S. economy will slow at a manageable pace.

Although its 1985 performance may be satisfactory, sustained growth in the American economy cannot be certain, at least until some basic problems are solved: high real interest rates, the large federal deficit, the trade deficit and the high value of the U.S. dollar.

Consumer spending

In Canada, consumer spending has strengthened significantly, and the trade sector has shown improvement. Although the automotive industry has been largely responsible for Canada's economic growth in the last year, the strength of that industry has not generally been reflected in other sectors of the economy, notes the Chamber. Sectors of the Canadian economy that are sensitive to interest rates - housing and non-residential construction, for example - have developed little momentum. Since the beginning of the recovery, real business investment in plant and equipment in the United States has increased by 26%. In Canada, by contrast, it has increased by only 2% and is still 21% lower than it was in 1981.

On the inflation front, improvement is due, at least in part, to wage settlements coming into line with price stability.

Unemployment rate

Unfortunately, the Canadian economy has not exhibited sufficient strength to dampen the unemployment rate: the Chamber does not expect significant changes in 1985 in this area.

According to the Chamber, higher business investment levels are necessary before economic recovery is strong enough to make a dent in the unemployment problem. Business investment, however, has been deterred by the high real interest rates. Some growth is expected in business investment for 1985.

Major risks

The Chamber sees the major risks for 1985 to be similar to those for 1984. A renewal of the wage and price spiral that preceded the recession is possible. Recovery in capital spending may continue to be frustrated by the level of interest rates. And the manufacturing sector may suffer permanent damage because of the relatively high value of the Canadian dollar.

The strength of the auto industry allowed Ontario to lead the way as economic growth brought this country out of the recession. An auto sector in 1985 that remains stagnant will leave Ontario in a disadvantaged position, warns the Chamber. The Ontario Chamber's forecast also dealt with specific sectors of the Ontario economy.

approach it in your motor boat. They have consented to keeping the existing clearance under the bridge.

However, the new concrete monster would reduce the effective span of the bridge from about 80 feet to about 60 feet. The new design would move the bridge much further south than the rejected design and thus wipe out completely sixty-five feet of fine sand beach in the middle of Ingoldsby. This part of the bridge approach will be banked with rocks of a minimum foot-and-a-half in diameter piled up in what the engineers call "random rip rap". This will bury the existing beach.

This random rock pile spills out well into the present navigation channel which follows the east side of the Narrows at this point.

The road alignment off the east end of the bridge moves well into the front yards and row of mature pines along the road on the south side of the hamlet. I have an axe to grind. I admit it. I own part of this property.

Anyone who shares a concern for the beauty and safety of the Highlands has until March 1 to write the Federal government under the Navigation Act. There is no deadline to complain to county council. Just call your reeve up and ask him to follow the inexpensive, low-tax and perfectly safe route already validated by the engineering consultants for the county. That is, fix up and maintain the existing bridge.

Murray Fearrey told county council when this issue was being debated that a new bridge is needed to facilitate gravel trucks and cement mixers. It's easy to see where the reeve's heart is.

I say the old bridge, restored and repainted would not only save about a quarter of a million dollars in tax money but would be a better structure to serve and attract our tourist industry clients and preserve the environmental beauty that tourists come to Haliburton to see and enjoy.

The new design is worse than the one county council turned down.

Joe Curtin,
Toronto.

Editor:

I have been requested by the Haliburton County Farmers Association to draw your attention to the fact that February is 'Meat Awareness Month'.

This promotion is designed to assist the Canadian food producers in a co-operative marketing format. It is also an effort to inform the consumer on this particular sector of food production.

As a farm organization we wholeheartedly endorse the 'meat awareness' undertaking, and request your consideration for some mention of this promotion in your newspaper.

Thank you.

Haliburton Winter Carnival

As the photos on this page indicate, it was a fun-filled weekend in Haliburton as that community's Rotary Club presented its annual Winter Carnival. The weekend included a busy schedule of events providing something of interest for everyone. A sampling of the activities include clockwise, from the right, silk painting display at the Rails' End Gallery by Marta Vanderwal, figure skating carnival at the Dysart arena, snowmobile drag races on Head Lake and many other events.

Bovey Commission review

-by John Eakins, MPP -

The New "Intermediary Body" (IMB) and the New Northeastern and Northwestern University Committee.

The IMB will advise the Minister on all matters of policy, including funding, and would be consulted before any major policy decision. All advice should be made public. Only qualified people should be appointed to the six-person board, including: 2 active academics recommended by the Council of Ontario Universities, and three people from labour, management or the community, one of whom has experience as a University Board Chairman or Chancellor. The Chairman should be full-time and have university experience.

The IMB should have high quality staff and should have a clear, detailed mandate set out by Order-in-Council.

The Northeastern and Northwestern Committees should provide special advice to the Minister and the IMB.

Federal-Provincial Co-operation

A ratio for Established Program Financing transfers re post-secondary education to be agreed upon.

The Federal Government to consult with the IMB before providing any awards or grants to individual universities.

The Federal Government to subsidize the differential portion of visa student fees, up to five per cent of total enrolment, for about $25 million.

Policy Recommendations

Quality is the highest priority.

Special and greater emphasis to be placed on research ability.

Enrolments will peak in 1990-91, with a total eight per cent increase over 1983-84. (This information is contrary to previous Ministry of Colleges and Universities' forecasts, which the former Minister often used to justify her policies).

The Ontario Schools: Intermediate and Senior

Divisions (OSIS) curriculum "double cohort" will create problems, and the Minister should make plans now.

The Commission supports the Robarts commitment to accessibility - i.e. a place for every qualified student somewhere in the system. The former Minister repudiated this commitment last Fall saying a place in university or college for every qualified student.

Province-wide exams for all university entrants in English (or Francais) and Math, to be used with school marks in determining admissions.

Regional needs should be a factor in a university's admissions policy.

Accessibility should be improved for:

Mature students (over 25)
Women
Franco-Ontarians

Wednesday, February 20, 1985

French immersion High School Graduates
Northern Ontarians
Native people
Persons socially and economically disadvantaged
Handicapped people.

No differential fees for out-of-province students, and a federal subsidy for visa students' differential fees.

No closing of any professional faculty.

No government intervention to respond to manpower demands (or lack of).

The universities' problems of adaptability and innovation stem from the government's funding formula, and not from any inherent flaw in their structure or administration, therefore modify and adapt the formula to provide desired incentives.

No undergraduate faculty in any university should be shut down.

There should be no government mandated "specialization", as the universities are already appropriately specializing. There is no need for an operational plan to provide for "differentiation", as the universities are already significantly "differentiated".

returning periodically to nurse and train. This provides effective protection from most predators - except well-intentioned but misinformed people who stumble across young, assume them to be abandoned, and 'adopt' them, forever separating them from parental care.

This time of year offers excellent opportunities to get to know rabbits and hares. You're almost certainly within 300 m of one, right now. Simply go for a walk in any meadow, valley or wild tangle. Watch for thickets and brush piles. Look for tracks, droppings and nibblings of both bark and buds. But watch especially for the animals themselves.

Once you know what you're looking for, there are volumes out there, awaiting discovery!

The Minden Business Improvement Area pay tribute to the efforts of Steve and Valerie Lougheed in organizing the recent sled dog derby. The couple, accompanied by their children Caleb and Jesse, were presented with a framed poster from the event signed by all the participants and volunteers involved in the two day race. BIA executive member Jack Brezina made the presentation. A similar plaque was presented to the municipality.

LEAD manager appointed

Andy Campbell has been named the manager of LEAD Corporation for Haliburton county, planning phase. The selection of the Minden area resident from the approximately one hundred who applied was announced on Tuesday.

The LEAD program, (Local Employment Assistance and Development) is a federally sponsored one, which was recently approved for the county. Before the corporation can begin operation, a process of assessment must be undertaken during which the needs of local industry and the potential for areas of development will be assessed. It is this initial planning stage for which Mr. Campbell has been hired.

The new manager is a graduate of the University of Guelph where he received a degree in economics. He has worked in a bank and for the past five years has operated The Cupboard Store on Horseshoe Lake.

It is expected that he will be calling on businesses in the county during the next three months to assist in the preparation of business needs and employment opportunities.

The LEAD Corporation office has been established in the basement of the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal office.

Recreation playoffs continue

The Rockcliffe Foamblowers, Hartwick Construction and Hall's Insurance were the winning teams in the Minden Men's Recreational League playoffs this past week.

Led by a nine point performance by Sid McKeigan, the Rockcliffe Foamblowers defeated The Times 14-3 on Thursday, February 14. McKeigan, the top scorer in the league during the regular season, scored six goals and assisted on three others.

Jim McKelvey also had a strong game, picking up four goals and an assist. Other point getters for the winners were Wayne Johnson 3 goals and 2 assists, Ted Vasey a goal and an assist, Dave Pettes 3 assists, Dave Lee 3 assists, Andy Campbell 2 assists and Dave Hartwick one assist.

Brian Shaw scored all three goals for The Times in the losing effort. Assists went to Barry Shaw with a pair and Dan Reid and Colin Wilson with singles.

Monday's game

The first game played Monday night at the Minden arena was a seesaw battle between Hartwick Construction and Home

Hardware.

After the teams swapped the lead several times during the game, Hartwick scored two goals in the dying minutes to gain the 7-6 win.

Rick Hartwick was the top gun for the winners, scoring three goals and adding two assists.

Other point getters were Greig Carpentier 2 goals and an assist, Murray Clarke one goal, Jeff Campbell a goal and an assist, Leigh Bull 4 assists, Peter Pearson one assist and Frazer Rogers an assist.

John Barkwell led the way for home, scoring a hat trick and adding an assist.

Also scoring were John Dettman a goal and 2 assists, Dean Hewitt a goal and an assist and Joe Mitchell with a goal. Carl Northey picked up an assist.

In the second game played on Monday night, Hall's Insurance tripled The Times 9-3.

Lawrence Loughheed played a strong game for Hall's scoring 5 goals and assisting on one other.

Other goal scorers for the winners were Barry Walker, a goal and 3 assists, Randy Anderson a goal and 2 assists, Dave Dollo a goal and an assist and Joe Giles a goal and an assist.

Joe Outram contributed three assists and Dennis Weaver added a single.

Scoring for The Times were Dan Reid with a goal and an assist, Jeff Brown a goal and an assist and Ivan Ingram with a goal. Rick Osinchuk picked up a pair of assists and Barry Ward added a single.

The playoffs continue Thursday evening at 9 p.m. and next Monday night at 7 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Land of contrasts

Greg Pearson is a Minden high school student who is spending a year in Brazil as part of the Rotary International Student Exchange program. His participation in the program is sponsored by the Minden Rotary Club. Greg has agreed to share some of his experiences with our readers through reports from the South American country. The following letter was received this week and describes his activities during Brazil's summer vacation period.

It seems a little strange to be on summer holidays right now, but that's exactly the situation I'm finding myself in. My new found free time has been spent travelling. In two months I was home in Sao Paulo for just nine days. So I've seen a few new sights.

My holidays started on November 29th and on the first of December I set out on a ten day, Rotary organized trip. The excursion went to Foz Do Iguacu (Falls of Iguaco) which separates the countries of Paraguay and Argentina from Brazil. We ventured into both these countries and then back into Brazil and out to Curitiba which is 30 km inland from the Atlantic Ocean.

The falls were very striking. I was most impressed with the way the natural aspect has been preserved. To view the falls closely, one must walk through the "jungle", which is an experience all its own! While making the journey down to the falls, a 1.5 m iguana ambled out in front of us. This lizard looking creature was very interesting and left me wondering what we might encounter next! We also saw many multi-coloured tropical birds and butterflies that were very impressive. All these sights gave me a true feeling of being in the "jungle".

On the Brazilian side, the falls are set in a number of very large steps. I'm not sure how, but a walkway has been constructed that takes you a metre above the rushing water to the very edge of the steps. It's quite a feeling to be peering over a railing down a waterfall.

Before entering Argentina we visited the "Three Frontiers" which is a Brazilian lookout point that shows all three countries at once. From the lookout can be seen the joining of the rivers Iguacu and Parana. The Iguacu River is muddy brown and the Parana blue, so it is interesting to see the two mix. Giant clouds of brown can be seen in the blue water as they flow downstream.

We then crossed the Iguaco River by boat and entered Argentina where we viewed the falls and went shopping.

Located on the Parana River is the largest hydro-electric dam in the world. The dam, Itaipu, produces 12,600,000 Kw of electrical energy per hour.

The sole reason for entering Paraguay was to shop. Everything, including life, is cheap in Paraguay. I believe this country's economic situation is worse than in Brazil.

Our journey then took us to Curitiba where we spent a night and the following day took a train through the jungle and mountains to the coast. The train ride offered some very beautiful scenery. While on the coast we ate an enormous seafood dinner for about 4 dollars!

The next day I returned to Sao Paulo. The trip was very good with lots of new and interesting things to do and see.

Christmas in the heat

For the remainder of December I was back at my family's coffee farm, in Gaua. Christmas and New Year was very strange with no snow and 35 degrees Centigrade. The traditions are basically the same here, instead of having a turkey dinner we had a giant barbecue! To me the holiday season just felt like a big family get together in July.

After arriving home on January 8 I ventured off to Rio De Janeiro for 10 days. I stayed at Yacht Club in Rio and tried to mix in with the "high society"! As an example of the wealth, I saw a 62 ft. yacht with a swimming pool on it!

While in Rio I noticed quite a difference between the people from Rio and the people from Sao Paulo. Living in Sao Paulo and talking with the people, I'm always hearing about the lazy people in Rio, who only think of laying on the beach! In Rio I was told of the work-a-holics in Sao Paulo who only think of money. I find this interesting as two cities relatively close have such different outlooks. It is amazing how much difference some sand and blue water can make!

This relaxed atmosphere in Rio can even be reflected in the way the people speak Portuguese. In Rio the people speak with many slang expressions. One person told me it was to try and make the language fun to speak!

The slangs in Rio presented a problem for me in understanding. It was very strange, because leaving Sao Paulo I was confident I could understand most everything in Portuguese, when I arrived in Rio and found I understood about 50% of what was being said.

This contrast can be compared to British English and Canadian English which are basically the same words but in different order!

City of contrasts

Rio De Janeiro is a very beautiful city. From a tourist's point of view, after living in Sao Paulo I'm aware that there is much more to a city than first meets the eye. I see Rio as having two sides. One, the exterior, which is the beautiful beaches, high striking mountains, blue water and the green vegetation. The other side shows the interior, which is the starving children in the streets, the roaming bands of teenagers looking for victims to mug, preferably a non-suspecting tourist with some precious dollars. As I have described, Rio is a very beautiful city, from a beach front hotel. Unfortunately it's not the reality of Rio as it is a dangerous place. My conclusion is simply this: a nice place to visit, but no place to live.

Something I think is unique to Brazil is the fact that about 65% of the cars are run by alcohol. The alcohol is derived from the "cuna" plant which is a type of sugarcane. Alcohol is less expensive than gasoline and alcohol cars are cheaper to buy. One cold winter morning (10 degrees Centigrade) my sister's alcohol car wouldn't start, so I don't think the alcohol engines will storm the Canadian market!

On February 25 it's back to school for me, ending my summer holidays. I won't be attending the same school as I've moved to the other side of the city, therefore ruining my attempts to learn German at my old school. Such is life!

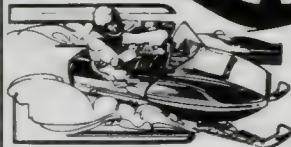

I hope all is well in winter wonderland, feel free to write anytime.

Rotary clubs prepare for Easter Seals campaign

To successive generations of Ontario residents, March has become known as Easter Seal month when members of 235 service clubs across the province, including the Rotary Club of Minden, will be canvassing their local communities in the hopes of raising funds to aid physically disabled children. This year's target is $3.45 million.

"The Easter Seal Society is the largest children's service of its kind in North America," explains John Butler, coordinator of the Easter Seal Campaign. "The Society provides services and a variety of life skills and recreational programs for more than 6,700 physically handicapped children and their families in Ontario."

According to Butler, affiliated service clubs conduct the month-long campaign in their respective communities, with 50 per cent of the funds collected being used to meet their local needs and the remainder given to the Society to assist in providing essential services for the children on a province-wide basis. The first campaign was launched in 1947 and led by the late Conn Smythe because he was Treasurer.

Coordinator of this year's Minden campaign, Rotary vice president Gerry Rome, noted that the amount raised for local use help support services provided for county children by the Five County Children's Centre in Peterborough.

In addition to local fund-raising events and a province-wide direct mail campaign, the Easter Seal Campaign culminates in a 17-hour television extravaganza called Superthon which will begin broadcasting on Saturday, March 30 in 12 Ontario cities. Organizers hope to raise an additional $1 million through this medium.

Butler says the 17-hour telethon has a new look, with each hour themed to satisfy the musical tastes of all viewers. Superthon will air in the following cities:

Ottawa, Toronto, Wingham, London, Sudbury, North Bay, Sault Ste. Marie, Timmins, Windsor, Thunder Bay, Barrie and Kingston.

The Easter Seal Society provides care for children up to 19 years of age whose activity is restricted by a physical handicap resulting from accidents, disease, congenital defect, birth injury or amputation.

The Society is incorporated

ed in Ontario and is a registered charity under the regulations of Revenue Canada. The 1985 budget totals approximately $10 million, with 75 per cent of it channelled directly into the care and treatment of physically disabled children. Approximately 16 per cent provides for extensive fund-raising activities and information services, and nine per cent is allocated to administrative operations.

Juveniles advance to Ontario quarter final

The Minden Monarchs Juveniles have advanced to the Ontario quarter finals after winning the best of three series against Pickering on Wednesday.

Minden won the first game of the series 5-4 in overtime at home. The game was not their strongest effort of the season, but it was enough for the victory.

The second game of the series was a much more spirited affair and according to Monarch coach Jerry Campbell, it was the best game of the playoffs. The Monarchs played a strong well-balanced game, winning 4-2 in overtime.

The score would have been much higher if Pickering had played the same calibre of hockey they exhibited in earlier games, but faced with elimination, they were a strong match for the Monarchs.

Monarch goalie Vince

Duchene and Pickering goalie Jeff Mason were both outstanding.

Daryl Ward opened the scoring for the Monarchs at the 2:09 mark of the opening period, knocking in a pass from Craig Burk and Boomer Stamp. With 30 seconds left in the period, Pickering tied the score then went ahead 2-1 in the second period.

A minute and a half later Boomer Stamp tied the game at two all after taking a pass from Doug Schell and Lennie Johnston.

The remainder of the regulation time belonged to the goalies and the defence ending with the teams tied at two goals apiece.

It appeared that the ten minute overtime period would also end in a tie until the 7:18 mark when Boomer Stamp blasted in his second goal of the game. Assists went to Chris Laporte and Doug Schell.

With 1:14 left in the period, Bernie Upton scored an unassisted goal to put the game out of reach. The 4-2 win gave the Monarchs the series and paved the way for their advance into the All Ontario Finals against Erin.

The first game of the best of five quarter finals will be played at Minden arena on Sunday, February 24 beginning at 5 p.m.

Babysitter's quiz

It's part of a baby sitter's job to be ready for emergencies. They come in all sizes, from an open safety pin to a fire in the basement. If you're a sitter, or a parent, try this quick quiz from St. John Ambulance to decide if you could use some emergency reminders. St. John has a course that teaches common sense, responsible approach to baby sitting, including how to deal with emergencies.

1. When placing a baby in the crib after feeding:

- Lay baby on back to play
- Lay baby on side with pillow in small of back.
- Lay baby on stomach with head to one side

2. You should know how to get help if something happens to the children. You should have:

- The number where the parents can be reached
- The neighbour's number
- A list of emergency phone numbers near the phone
- All of the above

3. When should you open the door to unexpected strangers?

- When he says he is the repair man
- When he says he is a relative
- Never

4. In the case of fire or if you smell smoke in the house, you should first:

- Call the fire department immediately

b. Wrap the children in blankets and get them out of the house

c. Try to put out the fire

d. Call for help

5. If a child suffers a deep cut that is spurting blood you would:

- Wash well with alcohol
- Apply a pressure bandage and call parents or a neighbour
- Take to the Emergency Department

6. If a child has a temper tantrum while you are babysitting you should:

- Scold the child
- Give him a warm bath
- Talk him out of it
- Be sure he can't hurt himself and let him finish his tantrum

7. If another child needs you when you are bathing the baby you would:

- Make sure the water is not more than 3 inches deep before you leave him
- Leave the baby on the table beside the bathtub
- Wrap him in a towel and take the baby with you

8. Signs of a sick child are:

- Sleepy and playing less
- Fever
- Not eating well
- All of the above

9. Putting up a sign on the Bulletin Board is a good way of getting a babysitting job.

Next Tuesday, February 26, will see the first annual Rotary Chicken bingo at the Minden Community Centre starting at 7:30 p.m. A Rotary spokesperson informed us that preparations are "rolling along for this eggstraordinarily eggsiting evening." Seating is limited, so get there early (with or without your chicken) and get ready for an evening of fun and games!

Phil and Florence Robinson of Minden visited their old friend Robert Allen who lives on Galway Road, Kinmount last Monday.

The residents of Staunworth Court apartments spent another gala evening on Valentine's Day, February 14. They were entertained by Bill Payne and his lively group who kept the party going with humour and to-tapping old time tunes. "I belong to Glasgow" was a great hit for the Scots in the audience. Special guests for the evening were Jeff and Marion Lodenquai who donated a beautiful floral arrangement to the residents. Three of the residents celebrated birthdays, belated good wishes to Florence Lindsay, Mary Stevenson and Kathy Thorn. Birthday cakes in the shape of hearts were made by Corrine Arsenaault and they were much appreciated by the recipients. Other guests for the evening came from Sunrise Apartments, let's see more of you visiting, the remainder of the evening was spent socializing and the lunch was prepared by the ladies of the Court under the auspices of the luncheon convener, Mrs. Florence Lindsay. Our thanks to everyone who made this such an enjoyable evening.

The preliminary lists for the Haliburton County Fair are now available. You may pick one up at Stedmans or at The Times office. Get an early start on your fair Winners at the Club 35 Monday evening card party this week were most lone hands - Ruth Cummins while high lady was Verna Bunker and high man Lou Pennick. The door prize went to Jack Weekes while other winners for the evening were Hazel Gregory, Ruth Cummins and Jack Weekes.

The Neighbourhood Watch public meeting for Stanhope will be held February 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Stanhope Firefighters Hall. Everyone interested in participating is more than welcome, especially Zone Leaders and Block Captains.

St. Paul's Anglican church card party last Thursday afternoon saw Esther Lee with most lone hands. Other winners were Joyce Hewitt, Harold Mercer (both on a cut), Dorothy Reaman and Joe Dollo.

Mr. Norman Cowen of Ottawa is visiting this week with relatives in the county.

The Paul Warburtons of Scarborough visited relatives and friends over the weekend.

A Call to Spring

Arise, oh Spring, you've slept too long
And we've had enough of Winter's song,
Winter, Winter everywhere
The ghostly trees are oh so bare
Snow, snow, will it ever stop?
From my window I peer
And think it will not.
But then comes to mind
The warmth of Spring
When the flying of friendly birds
On the wing
Back home to feather their nests once more
And the flowering of daffodils
Next my door.
Fall on, fall on oh hoary snow
It will not be long
And you will go
Driven away by the sun's warm cheer
You will slink away
For another year.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Some have hidden words or sayings, some do not. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun.

Dear readers. Since I penned my last lines to you, I have been taken with a bad dose of the flu. There are many others in the same boat, so we're going to keep on rowing and try to keep afloat.

Sorry to miss the chapel service Sunday night but I just wasn't able, I could hardly get to the dining room table. Lots of activity around here this weekend, which was just fine. Relatives coming and going nearly all the time. Marjorie Schulyer had a birthday this 12th February day, congratulations we would like to say.

Rev. Wicks of Minden Gospel Church conducted a very impressive service, in the chapel Tuesday, this February day. We thank him for coming and Fred Ballard the music to play. Tuesday afternoon we played the quiz game again. I was on the A-team but we didn't win. Congratulations to Ruby Lewis who went home to celebrate her birthday, just came back today. Edna Cowan is back home again after a week's holiday. Her roommate Lily Hogg was quite lonely while Edna was away.

Wednesday night was Earl Cooper's night to supply the music and he did it up in style, we haven't been so entertained in a long while. With Cathy on the piano, and Earl with fiddle and mandolin, and then the Scottish dancers they came marchin' in. All dressed up in kilts and all, and danced up and down the room, and really had a ball. It made us think of days gone by with their quick and lively step, they danced so lightly on their feet they really had the pep.

Members of the Haliburton Salvation Army came down to us on this Valentine's Day, not only brought and served a lovely lunch but came to sing and play. Captain Guy Bowmer plays the accordion and sings with a nice soft voice. His wife Linda has a nice voice too, they played and sang some good ol' numbers, read some scripture lessons. We had a nice social time together, all the way through.

Friday afternoon was sing song time, I did a selfish thing. I didn't attend because I had a bad cold and couldn't sing.

Friday night was our formal dinner, prepared by our expert cooks, served by our expert waiters, it surely was a winner. When the dinner was over, and the dishes cleared away, we were entertained by the Mary Poppins play. From start to finish everything was poppin', they all did their parts so well, hardly ever stoppin'. All the workers worked so hard to make this night a success, they were well rewarded and truly blessed.

The Human Touch

'Tis the human touch in this world that counts,

The touch of your hand and mine,

Which means far more to the fainting heart

Than shelter and bread and wine;

For shelter is gone when the night is over

And the bread lasts only a day,

But the touch of the hand and the sound of the voice

Sing on in the soul always.

NOTICE POWER OUTAGE

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21
(alternate date Tuesday, February 26)

To accommodate routine maintenance, it will be necessary to interrupt power for approximately three (3) hours between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m.

The affected areas will be Highway 35 south from Sandy Bay Road to Lutterworth Valley Trailer and Camper Park including Deep Bay Road, Moore Lake, Denna Lake and Davis Lake Road from the lake to Highway 35.

Seminar will examine benefits of herd genetics

Dairy genetics workshop seminars

Genetics in the dairy herd is the topic of a series of seminars being held in the area. These seminars are sponsored by United Breeders Inc., Ontario Holstein Association and the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture & Food.

The seminars will be held at the Uxbridge Arena on Wednesday, February 27 and at the Rockhaven Motor Hotel, Peterborough on Thursday, February 28. The program runs from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

The program includes "Goals of the Efficient Producer", a Breeder Panel, "Cow Evaluation and Culling Exercise", and a producer discussing "How I Use The Tools".

Paul Ruth of Omeme will be a member of the breeder panel at Uxbridge.

Cost for the day is $5.00 per person and tickets can be purchased at the Lindsay Agricultural Office or through the U.B.I. Office, Lindsay.

Enroll now in red meat plan

There is still time for beef and sheep farmers to enroll in the Red Meat Program to take advantage of the productivity incentives grants for calves and lambs being born this spring or for yearling cattle going to pasture for the summer.

Over 225 farmers in Victoria and Haliburton Counties have already enrolled in the Program. Most of these have already received grants for calves weighed last fall, for lambs weighed last spring or for stocker cattle being fed over this winter. A number of additional farmers could become participants this year.

The deadline for enrolling in The Red Meat Plan for cow-calf producers is before the first calves to be weighed are born in 1985. Similarly, sheep producers are to be enrolled before their first lambs are born.

Farmers who are planning to weigh their yearling cattle on and off pasture this year, must be enrolled before any of the animals are weighed to go to pasture.

If you are planning on participating in any of these sections of the Red Meat Program for the coming year, the ideal time to enrol is right away. By enrolling now, you will assist the staff involved to provide you with all of the necessary information and record forms well in advance of when you will need them.

Please remember that you only need to enroll once in The Red Meat Program and you are then in it for the balance of the five years. Thus, the 225 farmers who have enrolled already do not need to worry about further enrollment to participate during 1985.

CARD OF THANKS

Ellen Knight and family would like to thank all those who made her 100th birthday celebration such a happy occasion. Many thanks for all the beautiful cards, the lovely flowers and gifts. The dainty tea served by the Hyland Crest Auxiliary was enjoyed by all, thank you, especially Mrs. Blears who organized it. A very special thank you to the staff at Hyland Crest Home - not only for the extra attention on this special day but for all the gentle loving care and concern given over the years that have enabled me to reach this happy milestone. A special thanks to doctors Lodenquai, Peirce, and Belch who with their skills have helped me maintain my present health. Thank you so much.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank my relatives and friends in Minden for cards, flowers and prayers while I was in Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Gert Myles

The family of the late Nelson Leary would like to express their thanks to all their relatives, friends and neighbours for floral tributes, memorial donations, cards and food received during our recent bereavement. A special thank you to Dr. R. E. Jamieson, Betty Sales, Mary Faulkner, Coboconk, the staff at Ross Memorial Hospital, Rev. A. R. Bartlett, Bryant and Cameron Funeral Home, Coboconk, and UCW Knox United Church, Coboconk.

Just a note to express my appreciation for the lovely retirement party. Thank you for the beautiful gift. I will treasure it over the years. The plant from the A.C.L.D. is beautiful. The cards and notes that I have received from near and far are cherished. Words cannot express my gratitude to Lynda and her committee for the love, care and organization that went into making the evening extra special. It was wonderful to have friends and co-workers who travelled from as far away as Oshawa and Milton just for the occasion. I have enjoyed your companionship and working with all of you over the years. Thank you so much for loving and caring. Sincerely,

Ernice Warder

CARD OF THANKS

MacLachlan - The family of the late Morris MacLachlan wish to express their sincere thanks for the love and support given in the sudden loss of our husband and father. The many cards, call & floral tributes and charitable donations from his friends and neighbours in the Dorset - Minden area were a great comfort and a compliment to the man he was. Words cannot express the comfort we felt by all the love that was shown.

Ida MacLachlan & family

IN MEMORIAM

GARTSHORE: Mary Jane (Jean) In loving memory of a dear mother who passed away February 22, 1970.

She bade no one her last farewell,
She said goodbye to none
The heavenly gates were opened
A loving voice said come.
I often sit and think of you
The things you used to say and do
I wonder why you had to die
Without a chance to say goodbye
Though out of sight you're ever
Still missed, still loved, still mine
Until the end of time.

I love you, mom.

Sadly missed by Kathy.

HAMPSON: F. John S. In loving memory of a loving husband and father who passed away February 21st, 1983.

Although we smile and make no fuss,
No one misses him more than us.
And when old times we recall
That's when we miss him most of all.

Sadly missed by wife Melissa and families.
